Mexico Volcanoes Expedition Pico del Orizaba 18,851ft.

The summit of Orizaba 18,851 will be the main objectives of this eight day sojourn south of the border. While not highly technical climbs, they do require a relatively high level of commitment and conditioning. We will start our trip from the Hotel in Puebla after flying in Puebla Mexico at an elevation of 7,136. The following 2 days we will travel to the resort town of Centro Vacacional IMSS La Malintzi on the slopes of La Malinzi (14,640 ft) to continue our acclimatization sleeping two nights at 10,000 ft. with day hikes to just over 14,000 ft. We then spend the day traveling via private transportation to the sleepy town of Tlachichuca. Spending the evening at the home of Senor Reyes arranging transportation/ obtaining supplies for the trip to the Piedra Grande Hut at the base of Orizaba. The following day we will travel to the Piedra Grande Hut 14,000 ft. for the evening. For an alpine start for the summit of Orizaba early the next morning. With our success we return to Tlachichuca and Senor Reyes Complex for a hot shower and a bunk for the night. We then head off to the beautiful town of Pueblo & the Airport for our flights back to the US.

What to Expect: We will be climbing at what are considered high elevations (15,000 to 18,000 ft.). Your physical conditioning, mental attitude and flexibility will all be factors in making an exciting, fun, and successful trip. We are traveling and climbing in a foreign country, and while SWS Mountain Guides makes the best possible plans and tries to account for all possibilities, this is adventure travel and part of the fun and adventure is being flexible, and making changes to the itinerary as needed to account for local conditions. If you keep this in mind you will have a exciting and fun-filled adventure!
